

07 98-99

A low-angle, upward-looking shot of a complex industrial structure, likely a refinery or chemical plant. The image is dominated by a dense network of dark grey metal pipes and structural beams. A prominent feature is a multi-level walkway with a metal railing, extending diagonally across the frame. The background shows more industrial equipment, including tall distillation columns, under a clear, pale blue sky. The overall composition conveys a sense of scale and industrial complexity.

07110, 118

07-103

011103

07-93

07 15

Op 135-136

07 95-96

